R. R. ADMINISTRATION SUED FOR UPWARDS OF $1,000,000 DEMURRAGE

Coal Shippers Charge Irregularity in Car Movement to Large Number of Cars Out of Repair.

A hearing on a petition of the Wholesale Coal Trade association to recover demurrage charges aggregating upwards of $1,000,000 from the United States Railroad administration is in progress in New York before W. N. Brown, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

W. A. Marshall, a wholesale coal dealer and director of the association, testified his demurrage charges for the five months following the signing of the armistice totaled $3,150, which, he said, represented nearly 10 per cent of his capital.

Complaints of the irregularity of car movements by various coal companies were presented in evidence by the witness. Mr. Marshall declared the railroad companies used a large number of damaged cars which he said had to be repaired and cleaned at the expense of the coal companies in order to speed up car shipments. The witness said he knew of dealers on line points who were paying premiums of 50 cents to $1.00 a ton for quick delivery.

TO SHOOT DOGS

City Constables Will Start Crusade Against Mongrels.

Constables are going to open a crusade on stray dogs in Connelville. The animals have become so numerous that there are always several on the streets throughout the business section with a scattering of them in the residential parts of the city. One constable said yesterday when he came down town early in the morning there were a dozen canines lying on the sidewalks on Pittsburg street and Crawford avenue, between the bridge and Apple street.

What are known as "dog days" began on July 15 and will last until September 15. Formerly during this period dogs running at large without muzzles were shot. This law has not yet been enforced during the present season.

The ward constables, however, are determined to rid the city of a lot of the useless curs which run about the streets continually. Owners of valuable dogs are warned to keep their animals at home to make certain of their safety.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Power.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing strong neck and bust, and replacing bony and muscular tissue, there are a few who are not satisfied with the results of these treatments.

Thinness and weakness are often due to a shortage of phosphorus. Our bodies need this element for the maintenance of modern life. Phosphorus is the element that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known as ammonium phosphate, which, when taken in the form of Compound Nitro-Phosphate, will build up the body and meet all demands for a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphorus food elements, Nitro-Phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance of the thin and weak. It is a powerful tonic and a most effective remedy for the thin and weak.

Increased weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Stagnant blood, sluggish bowels and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Adv.

Reduce Those Dangerous Swollen Veins

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals are using a new and harmless yet very powerful germicide that not only cures enlarged or varicose veins and bunches to become normal, but also reduces fever, enlarged glands and wens.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging.
Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment.

rections advise and improvement will begin at once. Your druggist can supply

Says His Prescription

Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allerhuin Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspaper.

Connelville Drug Company has been appointed agent for Allerhuin in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received

CANNOT CONSTRUCT NEW STATE ROADS IN HALF SECTIONS

Highway Department Answers
the Question Often Asked By Auto Tourists.

COST WOULD BE HIGHER

Contractors Would Raise Bids Because of Having to Cover Length of the Road Twice, While Quality of the Paving Would be Variable.

Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, July 24.—"Why isn't it possible for the State Highway Department to order the construction of new highways in half sections, so that half of the road can be used while the other half is being built?"

This question has been asked the State Highway Department frequently since work began in earnest on the primary system of highways planned by Governor Sprout and Highway Commissioner Sadler. Replying to the query the department issues the following statement:

"The half-section plan of construction is impracticable and not economical in Pennsylvania. In the building of modern-type pavements, because of the general narrowness of Pennsylvania thoroughfares. Roads so constructed would not give satisfaction, inasmuch as it would not be possible to avoid variable conditions in the construction of the two sides.

"Contractors will bid much higher on this type of construction because they would have to cover the length of the road twice, instead of once. Materials can only be stored in one half the road.

"Especially where the road is dusty there is a marked disadvantage in using a half-width section, because the materials become dirty, not only from dust, but from dirt thrown up by traffic.

"The congested right-of-way—that is, the small width from fence line to fence line, as well as the width necessary for heavy grading on most Pennsylvania roads, mitigate against half-width construction. Contractors would be handicapped through traffic trying up grading operations. And Pennsylvania roads carry more bridges which would have to be rebuilt than do most other states.

"Most of the construction on the state's primary system cannot be classed as resurfacing. In discussing the half-width idea, the only economical and reasonable way, so far as the state is concerned—and most certainly the contractor, is to eliminate traffic from the section being reconstructed. Both time and money are saved. Any other course would be poor house-keeping."

While the unequalled amount of construction now under way in Pennsylvania has resulted in an unusual number of detours, the State Highway Department each week issues a bulletin showing where these detours are.

"TANGLED THREADS."—A splendid attraction, featuring Bessie Barriscale, the beautiful screen star, supported by Rosemary Theby, Nigel Barrie, Thomas Holding and others, is being shown today. John Ruthford Wayne, and his wife, Margaret, have nearly come to the parting of the ways. She is neglected by her husband, who is attracted by Rita Kosloff, a cabaret dancer. So she becomes wrapped up in her little boy. But Margaret is of the opinion that two can play the game as well as one. So she conspires with Philip Northrop, a friend of the family, to make her husband jealous by being seen a great deal in her company. Philip proves false, however, for he uses no time to compromise her, with the result that Wayne sues her for a divorce. He wins the case as well as the custody of the child, and we next see him as the husband of the dancer. Margaret, now broken hearted, and deprived of the little boy, becomes a nurse in a children's hospital in order to find expression for her mother love. A pestilence breaks out in the city and word comes that her

THE PARAMOUNT.

"HOME WANTED."—An interesting production starring Madge Evans, the delightful little actress. Madge Dow, the dear little orphan who had spent much time alone at the Middleport Orphanage, lay in her little cot every night waiting for the light to be turned on in one of the second story windows in the big house on the hill. Behind the closed shades of this window, she pictured to herself the lovely mother she so longed to have and so greatly missed. Finally, with her boon companion, a little boy called "Sporty," she went to the home of Letty Thompson, an attractive young settlement worker. Madge tells Letty of the happiness she has dreamed of in which the big house figures so largely and this gives Letty an idea. She takes Madge and "Sporty" to the big house, which is occupied by Major Amesworth, who cares only for his blue blood, his Mayflower ancestors and himself. Madge fixes it so that he is left helpless. She gets the key to the house, goes inside and locks the door and tells the major he can't come in until he acts polite about it. The picture, while funny in a great many places, is also very dramatic. The two children, and principally Madge, have the most to do in this production and yet it is a full grown man's size picture. It will appeal to every grown-up. Tomorrow Tom Moore will be seen in "One of the Finest."

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous,
Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Thinness, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardice, are due to a large measure to abuse of nerves. People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abstinence of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but a man now, a supeman, you must take certain tablets of Mifereen every day for seven days and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after each meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded; if the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered directly through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

An Internal Treatment For Piles (Hemorrhoids)

Gives absolute relief from all pain and suffering. Has never failed.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was no remedy for their case.

Go to your druggist and get an original bottle of Miro Pile Remedy, the discovery of a clever Ohio chemist, that taken internally, passes unchanged through the stomach and intestines, and thus reaches the source of the trouble where, by its soothing, healing antiseptic action, it first attacks and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days, even in cases that have resisted all previously known treatment's really wonderful results have been accomplished. It is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and anyone who is disappointed with his use can have their money refunded.

Connellsville Drug Co. dispenses Miro or can get it for you on short notice. IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. For sale by the Connellsville Drug Co.—Adv.

BOOTH
TARKINGTON

He drove home in a tumultuous mood, and almost ran down two ladies who were engaged in absorbing conversation at a crossing. They were his Aunt Fanny and Mrs. Johnson; a jerk of the reins at the last instant saved them by a few inches; but their conversation was so interesting, that they were unaware of their danger, and did not notice the runabout, nor how close it came to them.

He drove into the Major's stable too fast, the sagacious Treadwells saving himself from going through a partition by a swerve which splintered a shaft of the runabout and almost threw the driver to the floor. George swore, and then swore again at the fat old darkey, Tom, for giggling at his swearing.

He strode from the stable, crossed the Major's back yard, then passed behind the new houses, on his way home. These structures were now approaching completion, but still in a state of rawness hideous to George—though, for that matter, they were never to be anything except hideous to him.

In this temper he emerged from behind the house nearest his own and, glancing toward the street, saw his mother standing with Eugene Morgan upon the cement path that led to the front gate. She was bareheaded and Eugene held his hat and stick in his hand; evidently he had been calling upon her, and she had come from the house with him, continuing their conversation and delaying their parting.

George stared at them. A hot dislike struck him at the sight of Eugene; and a vague revulsion, like a strange, unpleasant taste in his mouth, came over him as he looked at his mother; her manner was eloquent of so much thought about her companion and of such reliance upon him.

The two began to walk on toward the gate, where they stopped, turning to face each other, and Isabel's glance, passing Eugene, fell upon George. Instantly she smiled and waved her hand to him, while Eugene turned and nodded; but George, standing as in some rigid trance, and staring straight at them, gave these signals of greeting no sign of recognition whatever. Upon this, Isabel called to him, waving her hand again.

"George!" she called, laughing. "Wake up, dear! George, hello!" George turned away as if he had neither seen nor heard, and stalked into the house by the side door.

CHAPTER XIV.

He went to his room, threw off his coat waistcoat, collar and tie, letting them lie where they chanced to fall, and then, having violently enveloped himself in a black velvet dressing-gown, continued this action by lying down with a vengeance that brought a wince of protest from his bed. His repose was only a momentary semblance, however, for it lasted no longer than the time it took him to groan "Ridra!" between his teeth. Then he sat up, swung his feet to the floor, rose and began to pace up and down the large room.

He had just been consciously rude to his mother for the first time in his life; for, with all his riding down of populace and ruffraff, he had never before been either deliberately or impulsively disrespectful of her. But now he had done a rough thing to her; and he did not repent; the rather he was the more irritated with her. And when he heard her presently go by his door with a light step, singing cheerfully to herself as she went to her room, he perceived that she had mistaken his intention altogether; or, indeed, had failed to perceive that he had any intention at all.

There came a delicate, eager tapping at his door, not done with a knuckle but with the tip of a finger-nail, which was instantly clarified to George's mind's eye as plainly as if he saw it: the long and polished white-moored pink shield on the end of his Aunt Fanny's right forefinger. But George was in no mood for human communications, and even when things went well he had little pleasure in Fanny's society. Therefore it is not surprising that at the sound of her tapping, instead of bidding her enter, he immediately crossed the room with

CHAIR MAKER FRIES 14,000 EGGS IN 22 DAYS FOR SOLDIERS

San Francisco Business Man Served 'Em American Style at Monte Carlo.

MANY DOUGHNUTS AS WELL

Prince of Monaco Required Three Extra Fryings for Himself and Wrote a Letter of Appreciation Later; It All Happened in Famous Casino, Too

The delectable crouper of Monte Carlo's old time rival, the gambling casino of Beausoleil, France, would have paled at the deftness of the San Francisco chair manufacturer who fried 800 eggs in two hours there, one morning, to feed 430 doughboys who were being served in the principal gaming room with "bacon and eggs, American style."

The crouper, no doubt, would have turned green, moreover, could he have seen the same San Francisco chair manufacturer beginning at 5 o'clock of a Saturday morning, fry 3,000 doughnuts before 10 o'clock that night, so that the free treat given by the Y. M. C. A. every Sunday afternoon—with chocolate, tea and cigars also served—might be ready.

The egg-frying, doughnut-frying chair manufacturer is a Y. M. C. A. overseas worker, James E. Hackett, of 416 Dolores street, San Francisco, and he worked at the casino of Beausoleil when it was a Y. M. C. A. hut. Mr. Hackett has just returned to America, bringing with him the distinction of having fried 14,000 eggs in 22 days, to say nothing of having made doughnuts by the tens of thousands, with three special fryings at the request of Prince Albert of Monaco, who acknowledged the doughnuts with a letter of thanks for the "American cakes."

The casino at Beausoleil was built just across the line from Monaco to compete with the casino at Monte Carlo. The more famous gambling palace bought out the other and Beausoleil lay closed for several years until the French requisitioned the building as a hospital, and later the American Army requisitioned it for a "Y" leave area hut.

Mr. Hackett went down to Beausoleil the latter part of last January, to take charge of supplies, can'tens and kitchens. The "Y" already had established the custom of serving the doughboys two eggs and bacon every morning between 9 o'clock and 11:15 at one franc 50 centimes, or approximately 25 cents. But Mr. Hackett agreed with the doughboys that bacon and eggs as the French turn them out are not American bacon and eggs. So, Mr. Hackett undertook the business of frying eggs.

Eggs from Algiers and eggs from Marseilles became "American" fried under his hand each morning. During those two intense hours he did nothing but fry eggs. But he boasted a "Frying Squadron" of aides.

Mme. Catherine Chibault broke the eggs for him. Mme. Anna Caglio took them from him on plates, as they emerged from the pan. Mme. Marie De Bault carried them downstairs to the main gambling room. And at another stove, Mme. Faustine Invalidi vied with Mr. Hackett by frying some 50 pounds of American bacon every morning.

When the last of the 500 or so doughboys had been served, the egg-frying period was over, and Mr. Hackett went back to the less strenuous operation of boiling hams, camouflaging "corn willie," and supervising the purchase of supplies.

When the weekly doughnut day would come around, Mr. Hackett would mobilize another "frying squadron," and set to. He did the mixing and frying himself, but there was a "Y" girl to roll and cut, a girl to sugar and a girl to grind the sugar, for the only way to obtain powdered sugar for the doughboys' doughnuts was to grind the granulated sugar in a coffee-mill.

There were little extras, of course. One day the "Y" was host to 3,000 children of the vicinity and a single item of the party was 3,500 cups of chocolate. The kitchens at the Beausoleil casino is seems a seldom a restful place. A staff of 25 girls worked in it, in shifts of from four to six.

And Mr. Hackett, judging from his record, did a special shift all by himself.
